Unleash the power of data science for real estate

Data Analytics products do not adequately address business risks arising from decarbonization trends

Green Premiums Concept by [redacted]

1. Difference between current and low carbon solution
2. Adjusted by making low emission product cheaper or Standard product more expensive (or a combination of the two)
3. Guide to action

Many companies in Singapore are facing this challenge

50+ interviewed
570+ contacted

Insight #1: Solutions are too early or too generic for customer's business needs

Insight #2: Real estate companies are pressured to lead the industry and support the government on tight margins

Current solutions are too manual and complex

"We spoke with suppliers offering carbon reporting services and tools, but they do not fully understand the challenges faced by the property sector."
